“By compiling resources in an effort to ease the stress of identifying applicable speakers for industry presentations and conferences, we’re once again helping streamline processes in the healthcare management field,” said Heather Thomas, Chief Marketing Officer and Executive Vice President, Sales & Marketing. “We are excited to layer this benefit into our platform and plan to revolutionize the way facilities approach patient safety and compliance.”

The Speakers Bureau is set to feature a number of key thought leaders. A few of the participating individuals include:
